ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In a polarizing interference microscope includes a light source, a polarizer, and an analyzer. An objective prism is arranged between the polarizer and analyzer. A birefringent compensation element is furthermore arranged in the immediate vicinity of the objective prism. A liquid crystal matrix element can be provided as the birefringent compensation element.